

Free Wireless Now!

Like other wireless providers, Lightyear Wireless could spend hundreds of millions of dollars on advertising to gather customers, but they don't. They know that their customers and their representatives would end up paying much more that way. Instead, they spend their marketing budget on the people who are actually using their service—their customers.

Lightyear uses word of mouth advertising--the most effective advertising there is--as their way to gather customers. This saves Lightyear a lot of money, since they only pay for the one ad that got results. That keeps costs low, so they can share some of their revenue with their users, offering them a way to earn free wireless forever, for a one-time effort. This is how Lightyear can provide "Free Wireless Forever" for anyone who's willing to help spread the good news. It just makes good business sense, because it brings Lightyear lots of new customers.

If you'd like free wireless, wouldn't your friends, loved ones, and others want it too? Help us spread the word about Lightyear Wireless, and Turn Your Cell Phone into Your Personal ATM Machine!

Who is Lightyear?

Lightyear Network Solutions, LLC, the parent company of Lightyear Wireless, publicly traded as LYNS, was founded in 1993 by Sherman Henderson, CEO. He's been ranked one of the "Top 25" leaders in the telecom industry and has been elected Chairman of Comptel, the industry's leading national association, 6 years in a row.

LNS is a federally licensed, full-service telecommunications provider offering telecom services to large, medium, and small businesses, as well as to residential consumers in North America. Lightyear's corporate clients include companies such as Capital One, Toyota, JCPenney, Frontier Airlines, Hertz Car Rental, Enterprise Rent-A-Car, Monster.com, Appleby's Restaurants, Arby's Restaurants, Red Robin Restaurants, Outback Restaurants, Pappa John's Pizza, and many other nationally known companies.

Lightyear occupies its own 80,000 sq. ft. world headquarters, in Louisville, KY. It has hundreds of employees and its own $80 Million data/billing system. It was once ranked at 19th on Inc. Magazine's list of the 500 Fastest Growing Companies.
